Suits and Overcoats take New Style Slants this Fall

By I.J. Robinson

Something at least is going to be lower in suits this fall even if it isn't the prices. The waist line and general detail features have come down.

Slowly but surely everything that pertains to world war influence is passing into history and now we find a departure from the military styles which men have been following for recent seasons.

Whether you know it, or not, the high waist line, high patch pockets and deep chested effects that have marked the styles for men in recent seasons were a direct inheritance from the uniforms our dough boys wore during the war. These styles served our men well for a while in lending grace and erect posture to the figure but fashion is ever seeking new effects, men are restless for change in their styles and many of those who were the khaki were anxious for something different.

It has arrived. There is a tendency toward a lower effect in coats in all details. The waist line is much lower, and less accentuated. The pockets have come down, the skirts of the coat are longer and the high chest is down to a more natural position for the man whose build is more that of an Apollo than a Mars.

Men will look a trifle less trim and soldierly but the majority will at least be more natural and consequently more comfortable.

Trousers, too, will be slightly fuller and the general effect of the coat will be toward straighter lines and more roomy appearance. This doesn't mean that the coat will be full-draped or that the trousers will be baggy. It simply means less body-tracing lines and less severe modelling.

The first indication that we had of this trend was reflected in the popularity of double-breasted coats last season. Men showed their desire for the looser effects and many turned toward the double-breasted styles to gain this relief through the double-breasted garment. In the past always been more popular as a winter coat than a spring style. And it will be this coming season, too.

Double-breasteds are going to gain further popularity this fall especially because they will be entirely away from the high waist line effects which was still in vogue in all spring styles despite the fact that it was an entirely new and rather incongruous note in the double-breasted jackets. Another feature of the fall styles is a decided simplicity in styling. This was noticeable to some degree, in the better spring models but so many men like the negligee and lounge effects in summer that a great many models continued to show belts, pinch backs and novelty pleats as a compromise to this following.

For fall hardly any belted effects are observed and a great many less of the pleated or yoke effect coats. Those that are shown are definitely pointed to appeal to the younger element who are ever strong for ultra-novelty.

The younger business men and the precisely fashionable dresser however will adopt the more simplified mode.

Such coats are very handsome and characterful in their outlines and their smartness and refinement will become readily acceptable as soon as the well-groomed man reflects their style attractions at the best social and business centers.

Pattern effects, too, tend toward less striking effects. Such fabrics as lend themselves to the neater designers seem to have the call for this fall and winter. These are the worsteds, cassimeres, flannels, gabardines and vicunas. Even in tweeds, chevrons and Scotchies which are usually more elaborately patterned there is a noticeable tendency toward smaller designs. Large plaids, overplaids and blocked effects are sparingly shown. Small mixtures, club checks, pin checks, narrow stripes and herring-bones dominate the new fashions.

There will be no particularly outstanding color in the fall styles. Browns, greens, greys and blues are most stylish. In fact all the darker effects are more approved than the lighter tones.

Blue serges, grey serges, solid color flannels, striped flannels are largely shown. Unfinished worsteds and vicunas are also popular effects.

In overcoats you'll find a sympathetic styling with that of the suits. That is quite natural because a high waist line overcoat is not going to fit well over a low waist line undercoat. In the winter overcoats the belts have not completely retired. Many very smart models still show either the encircling belt or the half belt back.

However the newest and what promises to be the most fashionable overcoat of the season is one of a Raglan suggestion both in shoulder effect and in back draping. A good many ulsterettes are also shown and in this type of coat there is more of the form tracing effect remaining than in any of the other models. This note is however, retained only in the upper part of the coat. The skirts are fuller and more flaring than heretofore.

All manner of fabrics are employed in the overcoats for this winter. Most of them are the newer weaves. There will be less of the old meltons, chin-chillas, kersays and beavers shown than for many seasons of the past.

Novelty weaves, knitted fabrics, heavy gabardines, moleskins, Scotchies, Burbanks, Crombies and heavy weight gabardines are leading overcoat features of the season. The color range is wide and varied.

There is a tendency toward less use of fur on men's overcoats than heretofore. The fur cuffs are hardly ever seen, fur linings almost confined to motoring or driving purposes and fur collars for dress coats. But the profuse use of furs such as was in vogue several seasons ago is for the time being checked. This is probably due to the apex cost of furs today and furs will be even more costly this coming winter than they were last. The Mrs. will of course have her furs at any price. All the more reason why the provider will have to forego his.

Every Hart Schaffner & Marx tailor is an expert in one operation; if one man makes better edges than another man, he makes nothing but edges. If one man does best on button-holes, he makes nothing else. So nothing but the best tailoring skill goes into each garment.

How can we make your fall clothes as inexpensive as possible?

THAT'S our problem; we're here to serve you in clothes; we want to do it better than anyone else. If we get the best clothes for wear and style--no one can beat that. We have them in Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes. If we sell them on close margins, we're giving you more value. We're here to prove it.

The new styles for young men

Plain simple styles are correct for you. We have any number of smart models from Hart Schaffner & Marx. It takes designing art like their's to make plain clothes that don't look that way.

Business suits that save money

Men who used to think they had to go to tailors are coming to us. In our Hart Schaffner & Marx suits they get the quality and tailoring they paid 50 pct. to 100 pct. more for. They get fitted perfectly. Sizes for every figure.

DEATH FOLLOWS ACCIDENT WHILE DRIVING WAGON

John L. Baker, Prominent Sterling Farmer, Succumbs in Hospital

PARTIALLY PARALYZED

John L. Baker, a prominent farmer living five miles southeast of Sterling, died in the Bismarck hospital at 2

a. m. today, from injuries received in a runaway. Mr. Baker's back was broken and a small bone in his neck was broken. The accident was not witnessed by anyone. Mr. Baker was driving a tank wagon for a threshing outfit on his farm. According to word from Sterling, it is believed that in crossing a ditch the wheels of the wagon went down, frightened the horses and breaking a pin connecting the wagon and tongue. Mr. Baker was jerked out of the wagon and dragged a few feet. It is believed that the force of the fall alone broke his back and neck. The accident happened Thursday afternoon. Mr. Baker was brought to the hospital here yesterday. He suffered intense pain, and his body became paralyzed from the middle of his back down. He was conscious when brought here, but suffered terrible pain. Mr. Baker is said to have been

WOULD LET ARBITRATION FIX HOURS

Eight-hour Law Needs Revision.

Declare Investigators Plants Closing Down

Stockholm, Sept. 18.—A government committee which has investigated the operation of the eight-hour law enacted by the Liberal-Socialist Eden government has just recommended that the law be suspended. It is advised. It advocates that the length of the working day should be made dependent upon a mutual agreement between employers and employees and that some provision be made for longer or working hours under certain circumstances. The committee was unanimous in finding that the expectation that the measure would encourage industry on the part of the workers has not been realized. It reports that in no single line of work have the employees shown any greater efficiency or output, but there has been a considerable decline in production. It says that several big plants are on the verge of closing down because they cannot be made to earn profits owing to the heavy charges for increased housing and utilities for workers, higher payrolls and the high cost of machinery. The committee's investigation covered a period of eight months. Under the law heavy fines on employers were authorized for infringement and councils of employers, employees and government representatives were established to consider any departure from the eight-hour working day established under the law. When the measure was introduced, Hjalmar Branting, the Socialist leader and labor leaders declared it could not reduce production.

PRIEST WARNS OF MODERN DANCES

San Juan, Sept. 18.—Present styles of dress and the newer dances are severely criticized as immodest and degrading by the Rt. Rev. William A.

Jones, Bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Porto Rico, who has issued a warning to both priests and parishioners against their demoralizing influences. Certain of the modern dances are "mockery to shame and reality are nothing more than a bait to sensuality," in the opinion of the bishop while the style of the day in women's dresses, he warns, should not be used to exhibit nakedness. Priests are advised that they may not organize dances for church benefits, according to instruction from the Pope, while they may not attend festivals organized by lay members of their congregations where dancing is indulged in. The bishop gives his views on dress and dancing in a clerical letter addressed to both priests and members of the church in this diocese and published in the official church bulletin.

INCREASE IN GERMAN MARK INJURES TRADE

Berlin, Sept. 18.—Cancellation of orders by foreign buyers amounting to 60,000,000 marks suffered by a German firm of toy makers on account of the recent more favorable standing of the mark prompts the Tageblatt to observe that the charge made against Germans of being guilty of breach of business morality is because in isolated cases they use similar pretexts to evade contract obligations no longer holds good. The German toy makers claim that shipments already on the way and out of Germany have also been refused acceptance, on the ground that prices based on the recent improved status of the mark exceeded the world market prices.

ENTERTAINS FOR MRS. DAY

The Misses Lucille and Helen Dahl were joint hostesses last evening at their home on upper Fifth street in compliment to Mrs. Robert Day of San Antonio, Texas, who, with her husband, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Falconer of this city. The guests included former classmates of Mrs. Day. The time was pleasantly spent with needle work and conversation. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses.

MINNEAPOLIS LUNCHEON

Among the pleasant social events in Minneapolis this week, was a luncheon given by Mrs. R. F. Marquis, formerly of Bismarck. The guests included members of P. E. O., a large number of whom were once of Bismarck: Mrs. W. M. Thompson, Mrs. G. J. Johnson, Mrs. Dan Stewart, and Mrs. Andrew A. Bruce, Mrs. M. C. Schoelkopf, who is visiting in Minneapolis this summer, was also present and delightfully entertained those present by singing a vocal number.

CUMMINS-HECKER

A Mandan wedding of interest to Bismarckers, occurred yesterday afternoon when Miss Margaret Eleanor Cummins, daughter of T. A. Cummins, and Walter H. Hecker, who is connected with the Cummins-Robertson company of that place, were married.

The ceremony was performed at the bride's home with Rev. H. H. Owen officiating. Miss Mary McGillicie and Jerome Murphy were the only attendants. A bridal luncheon followed the ceremony and Mr. and Mrs. Hecker departed on the evening train for an extended tour through the east.

MAYNARD-STENQUIST

Miss Edith Stenquist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Stenquist, and Lloyd A. Maynard of Painted Woods, were quietly married Saturday afternoon at Bismarck by Rev. Alfson, pastor of the Lutheran church. A dinner and reception was given the happy couple Sunday evening at the home of the bride's parents, which was attended by a large number of neighbors and friends.

Mrs. Maynard is one of the popular young women of this vicinity and has lived here practically all her life. She has a host of friends who wish her very much happiness.

The groom is the brother of L. E. Maynard of Bismarck and has made his home in Painted Woods township for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard will live at the Stenquist farm for the present—Wilton News.

DINNER DANCE

A charming dinner dance was given at the Bismarck Country club Friday evening when Mrs. George Welch, Mrs. Robert Orr, and Mrs. Nellie C. Call were hostesses in honor of Edwin Taylor, who is here on a leave from Annapolis Naval academy. Eighty guests were bidden to enjoy the affair.

PRETTY TEA

In a setting of summer garden flowers, the final tea of a series of most delightful ones which have been held regularly this season, was given yesterday afternoon at the Country club. Mrs. W. H. Bodenstab was in charge of the general arrangements. She was assisted by Mesdames Overt Olson, H. H. Steele, Burt Finney, Benton Baker, R. S. Wilcox, and Thomas Poole. Bridge was the diversion, and the serving of tea marked the close of the afternoon. An out of town guest was Mrs. M. H. Colwell, of Minneapolis.

MISS MINNIE J. NIELSON

Miss Minnie J. Nielson, the only opponent of the Nonpartisan League elected to state office in North Dakota two years ago, will speak at the Minneapolis auditorium Wednesday night under auspices of the Women's Community council. She will tell the story of the fight, in which she has had a leading part, to protect the school system of North Dakota from minister influences of socialism, first attempts to attend this meeting have been sent to public welfare, social and political organizations of the twin cities, and the meeting will be open to the public. All partisan political discussion is to be barred.

Miss Nielson will make a similar address in Red Wing the evening of Sept. 21. The two speeches are the only ones she will make outside of North Dakota, where she is engaged in a fight for re-election.

During the war she headed the Women's Liberty Loan organization of the state, and when she received the degree of doctor of laws, for her services in the cause of education, she wore a doctor's gown made as a tribute to her by women associated with her in war work.

Since her election two years ago Miss Nielson has had to fight the Nonpartisan league machinery at every step. The first was a legal fight to keep her out of the office, and when that failed legislation was passed to deprive her of power and place it in the hands of her defeated opponent. Efforts were made even to deprive her of her teacher's certificate, without which she could not have held the office. As a member of the board of administration, in charge of all state institutions, she has waged alone a fight to save the school system of the state from domination by imported socialist educators.

From Streeter

Rev. and Mrs. A. Ermel of Streeter, N. D., were visitors in the city yesterday. While here they were guests at the home of Rev. C. A. Bremer and Rev. C. F. Strutz. Mr. Streeter is here en route from Mott, where he officiated at the marriage of Miss Winnifred Mutechekhaus and Mr. J. Keamun.

Dr. Maxime Leuret, a Swiss globe-trotter, has walked 31,000 miles in his ramblings through Europe and America.

Will German-American Vote Be Organized For Harding ?

The attempt of the Great-American Citizens' League to organize German-American voters to prevent the election of Governor Cox to the Presidency is arousing lively interest in both camps. "The hyphen, that detestable phenomenon of American society, is again lifting its hydra-headed hideousness and discharging its venom," exclaims the Louisville Courier-Journal (Dem.). "There is evidence of a strong and highly organized pro-German movement in favor of the election of Senator Harding," declares the Indianapolis News (Ind.). Interpreting the resolutions passed by the German-American Citizens' League, George Sylvester Viereck, editor of The American Monthly, in the columns of his magazine declares that "The Democratic candidate is impossible. He is the candidate of Woodrow Wilson and the League of Damnation. The Republican candidate is distinctly the lesser of two evils. His speech of acceptance is not without merit."

On the other hand, Senator Harding, in a statement which the Democratic New York Times concedes to be "proper enough so far as it goes," warns these German-American supporters that they must not think of him as favoring any class or race among our citizens. Among other German-American papers that disavow a German-American vote is the St. Louis Westliche Post, which states that this paper "does not recognize any hyphen vote," and predicts that Americans of German descent will vote as any other American, "every one according to his own personal convictions as to which one of the two candidates stands higher for pure, unadulterated Americanism."

THE BUSY 'KERCHIEF
Twenty years ago young people were adept in the use of the handkerchief as a means of silent communication with the other. But only mental mastadons mastered the intricacies of the code, so that 90 per cent of the folks who tried talking that way usually got their wires crossed, and things up so that their conversation was not intelligible.

"The Lover's Casket," a printed gem for the guidance of youth of the 1900 crop, tells us all about it. But even it warns that persons trying to use the code that "many a lady may make a signal entirely unawares, because it is almost impossible to use the handkerchief at all and avoid every motion indicated in the code."

As a result some timid girls left their noses untouched for fear they might be inviting someone to "follow me." And, through misinterpretation of a handkerchief signal, men's noses have been punched by unromantic fellow citizens.

It is a pleasure to learn, after so many years, that "drawing the handkerchief across the lips" meant "desirous of an acquaintance;" that taking it by the center meant "you are too willing;" drawing it across the cheek, "I love you;" drawing through the hands, "I hate you;" folding it, "I wish to speak to you;" flitting it over right shoulder, "follow me;" drawing across forehead, "we are watched;" letting it remain on the eyes, "you are cruel;" putting in the pocket, "no more at present;" crumpling in the hand, "I am impatient;" and tying a knot in the corner, "don't tell too much."

THE UMPIRE
When a judge, sitting on the bench, has submitted to him a problem of law, he is not required to give his decision instantly nor does he have to submit to hoots and jeers from an assembled mob of fans in case his decision is not popular.

The judge takes his time, days and weeks, if he so desires. He listens to arguments by learned and able attorneys and often they file with him briefs in which they have set forth all the decisions relating to the points at issue.

The average judge will decide in a year not nearly so many cases as an umpire in a baseball game decides in the course of two hours.

And the umpire must decide instantly. He has no chance to hear arguments by the opposing teams and nobody ever files a brief in the case at bar. He must pass on the point at issue right now and if the decision means the winning of a ball game, as so often a decision does, then the arbiter is liable to be mobbed after the contest is over.

The judge sits in court, looked up to by all and esteemed by all, while the umpire has no friend and everybody who has paid his way in is free to address uncomplimentary remarks to him.

Yet the umpire has the harder job of the two. Because he has to pass judgment so quickly, he is bound to make mistakes that the judge in court can avoid by deliberation. The umpire, too, has so many more points on which to pass than has the judge. And almost any fair lawyer will make a good judge; at least as good a judge as the average of today. But good umpires are born and not made. Not all good ball players are good umpires by any manner of means.

WHY WON'T THEY HELP?
A mother was telling about her boy and how hard it was to make him help in the common work of the place. He would spend time and money recklessly on the things that interested him—his father's money, which happened to be limited. He was wasteful in many ways, and he groaned when he was asked to do the little things that a boy can do to make life easier for the family, though he was strong and he would work hard for outsiders to earn a little money of his own.

The boy was not unusual. Most boys are like him. He was beginning to lead a life of his own and developing interests that would expand and merge some day into the interests of the larger world. He was inconsiderate, of course. But though that is hard on a mother it is better for the boy than being too considerate. There are boys and girls who live by far too much in the atmosphere of the home and take its burdens far too seriously. And when at last the home is broken up they feel lost in the world and ill at ease amongst the joyful young people that should have been their companions, or they carry an atmosphere of overconscientiousness into a new home of their own.

In the animal world it is the rule of life for parents to look after their young and for the young to repay the debt, not to the parents themselves but to young of their own. A species that neglects its parents can continue to exist. But one that neglects its young cannot. If human parents get any consideration at all from their children they are that much better off than birds or horses. And they will get far more by being "good sports" with the children than by preaching to them about their obligations.

the outrages last year. Most of this information has never been made public and it would not be wise to make it public now.
"We even published the identity of one anarchist who was killed by his own bomb with less evidence than we have in the present case. Turns out that pink paper was the only evidence we had last year. Now we have whole circulars dropped into a mail box presumably by the man who set the bomb a half hour after the mail carrier left the box.
"In addition there are the horse and the broken bits of the wagon on which to construct evidence."

SUFFERED WITH SEVERE ECZEMA
Four Years, First on Arms, Spread, Itching Severe, Cuticura Heals.
"I suffered from a severe case of eczema. I first noticed a slight redness on my arms, and later it spread. The itching was so severe that I scratched, and could only sleep part of the night. The inflammation was so intense that the skin was almost purple.
"This lasted for nearly four years. I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after the third application the itching was less. I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Ointment and at the end of a month I was healed."
(Signed) Mrs. J. E. Ratcliffe, Cedar Rapids, Minn., Aug. 29, 1919.
Cuticura For Toilet Uses

7,000 Specialists Work With Us On Your Washday Problems
A few women acting collectively in a common cause are within a single vote of affixing a new amendment to the Constitution of the United States.
In a brief period of striving together, they have achieved more than their mothers accomplished in a thousand years of working alone.
Yet, by reason of their natural isolation in the home, many women still think "individually" of washday problems. Our modern cleansing methods, on the other hand, have approached nearer to perfection because we and the 6,999 other laundry-owners in America are thinking collectively.
This trained thought force—this multiple mind of 7,000 units—is being applied every day in our plant to the lightening of your washday labors.
What each individual laundry owner learns is communicated to all of us. Here are some of them:
A washing process has been developed and is in service here in our plant, that emulate the softly cleansing action of the cascade.
A remarkable spinning basket is in use that extracts water from wet clothes without the squeezing or straining of a single thread—superceding the old-fashioned clothes wringer.
Our equipment for ironing is so delicately adjusted that a sheet of wet tissue paper can be smoothed without the tearing of a fibre.
Isn't it reasonable to assume that this service—which represents the combined experience of 7,000 specialists—is safest and most sanitary for clothes, and the most saving for yourself?
You'll find washday no longer a problem if you'll send your family bundle to us. Will you try it? Phone us today.

LET US REASON TOGETHER
The increase in railway freight rates and passenger fares could not have been delayed with safety. If the railroads of the country are not prosperous, general industry will suffer. If they are conducted in a profitable way, and expand and grow, the entire nation will benefit. Higher rates, affording greater revenues will enable the roads to increase their facilities and therefore in the immediate future it will work actually to reduce the cost of living.
Good and adequate transportation will serve the people of the people of the country at large in DOLLARS, where a freight rate increase is measured in CENTS.
One of the surest ways to stop profiteering is to restore natural competition. This can only be brought about by good transportation which will afford a proper distribution of raw materials as well as the finished products.
Every citizen is vitally interested in this subject, whether he be shipper, traveler, employee, or part owner of any railroad. This improved service, however, cannot be had as it by magic—it will require time to secure more engines and more cars, and to construct additional and enlarged facilities. Much hard work confronts the railroad managers before the transportation machine can be put into complete repair so that it can meet the demand placed upon it by our ever-growing industries.
Every effort is being made to expedite the bringing about of service which will meet and satisfy all the requirements of our patrons, and we ask only for that spirit of fairness and forbearance which is characterized of the American people.
We welcome SUGGESTIONS and give prompt attention to all COMPLAINTS because we know that co-operation and friendly help are obtained only where there is a basis of mutual understanding. We are ready at any time to meet our patrons MORE than HALF WAY.
E. PENNINGTON, President.

The Proper Use of money spells THRIFT.
And this "proper use" requires not only careful spending but a judicious use of what is SAVED.
This means that the savings must be put at INTEREST where they are SAFE—and you are assured of these essentials in the First National Bank.
4% Interest is paid and our Capital and Surplus of $300,000.00 protects your funds.
We pay you 4% on Savings.

DOINGS OF THE DUFFS BY ALLMAN

AVENGE ESSAD PASHA

"Blood Brother" Is Ready to Keep His Oath.

Gambling Incident With Slain Albanian Cemented Friendship Long Ago.

Paris.—Vengeance for the assassination of Essad Pasha, head of the Albanian delegation here, is being quietly awaited by a "blood brother" of the Balkan leader, according to a circumstantial story by a French writer, published by the Excelsior.

This man, now rich and influential in France, the story goes, was one of several poor young men who 30 years ago met Essad Pasha, then known as the "Black Dagger of Abdul Hamid," in Constantinople, when he crowded into a card game and insisted upon playing with them. Fearing Essad Pasha, they protested they were too poor to play with him, but he insisted, emphasizing it by placing his revolver on the table as a threat.

To meet this, the "blood brother" put down his dagger, poisoned, he said. Essad Pasha showed his surprise, then his pleasure.

"Young man," he exclaimed, "this is the first time anyone has dared defy me. Men like you are rare."

Essad Pasha took his own dagger, opened a vein in his wrist and also in that of the young man, each sucked a few drops of blood from the other and they became "blood brothers," according to Albanian customs, sworn to avenge each other's deaths.

"I am ready," this "brother" now is quoted as saying, "to keep my oath, but I have confidence that French courts will make it unnecessary for me to interfere."

Rustem Avenl, arrested on the spot for shooting down Essad Pasha as the latter was entering his automobile in the downtown district recently, is awaiting trial. He was a student who posed as the avenger of Albania's wrongs.

ARMENIA ONCE WAS MIGHTY

Almost Crushed by the Religion of Islam, Its People "Learned How to Bend."

Armenia, now regarded as a country full of starving, oppressed people, was once a great state—one of the few ancient people never Hellenized, according to history. Emerging from tradition, a distinct Armenian people appeared 1,000 B. C., dwelling on the tablelands near Mt. Ararat. Having no boundaries, the state was seldom independent, but was subjugated in turn by Babylonians, the Medes and Persians, the Seleucids and the Romans.

However, conquest meant little more than tribute in those days. In the early middle ages, called in the west the dark ages, Armenia attained its highest position through Christianity. In 310 A. D. Gregory the Illuminator, apostle and attached himself to Tiridates, who soon became king. After much persecution, Gregory Christianized the whole state. Then, in the seventh century, Armenia met its worst enemy, the religion of Islam.

In the old days the state stretched from the Caspian sea to the Mediterranean, and the other boundaries ebbed and flowed according to those left by conquering hordes that swept over them, at one time reaching from Persia to Syria. Like a Jew in appearance, the Armenians have persecuted like a Jew. He has strong business instinct and talent for languages like the Jew, and has also learned how to bend, instead of break, before his persecutors.

Bees Replacing Beers

Altoona, Pa.—During a baseball game at Duquesneville a swarm of bees came over the hill and settled on a bush near the diamond. Some boys procured a beer keg, knocked in the head, and set it under them. A twist of the bush and into the keg went the bees. The improvised hive was turned up on some stones and the new inhabitants immediately went to work. Samuel Kelle carried the keg home and the bees are filling it with honey.

FLYING CORPS NEGLECTED BY UNITED STATES

Officers of Army Pray That There Will Not Be Another War in Near Future

NEED LARGER PERSONNEL

Inventions and Progress Made During Past Year Inspire of Adverse Conditions

BY GEORGE H. WATERS, N. E. A. Staff Correspondent, Washington, Sept. 18.—The air service branch of the War Department, having insufficient appropriations to equip heavily and maintain a large personnel, is finding it necessary to go slow and confine its "preparedness program" to being ready with the information on the kind of airplanes needed and how to build them. In case of war at the same time, officers are finding that the nation won't be called upon soon to fight a real war, for, they say, the air branch would be in a "cell of a fix" if the dogs of war should be turned loose on America suddenly. Brig. Gen. William Mitchell says it war should burst upon the country now, it would take 14 months to equip the army's aviation.

But the air service would be able to drop a few bombs with equipment already purchased, and this year it has $2,250,000 to spend in experimentation and $3,000,000 more it must spend for service equipment. All told the appropriation for the year is $34,000,000, none of which has been spent, except what has been necessary to maintain the branch since June 30.

Contracts Out.

Scraping together some money that was left from last year's $25,000,000 appropriation, the air service has just contracted for the following equipment:

Fifty combat pursuit single seaters, Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Corporation, costing $350,000.

Fifty combat pursuit single seaters, Thomas Morse Aircraft Corporation, cost $355,000.

WOMEN SOLVE SCHOOL PROBLEM WHEN AUTHORITIES WERE READY TO GIVE UP

BY HAL COCHRAN
Glencoe, Ill., Sept. 18.—Towns and cities all over the country have been writing in to the little town of Glencoe, Ill., suburb of Chicago, for the solution of the security-of-teachers problem.

For Glencoe has solved it. Recently the village was threatened with a strike by its teachers. They were fast in view with the question of returning. And they gave us their reasons. The shortage of homes and the high rents.

Then the women of the town got busy.

Raise $30,000

Some $30,000 was subscribed by Glencoe citizens, of which $12,000 was used for the purchase of an old building known as Glen-zablos. It had been an eyesore to the village for years.

air service are experimentation to keep up with the latest development, and an aircraft industry to build the planes we develop.

Until America got into the war, all aviation secrets were carefully guarded by both the allies and Germany. We specialized on the greatest progress in aviation.

"Germany specialized on aerodynamics that perfected the shape and lines of airplanes," said Captain Section. "We specialized on engines. The perfected lines of German aircraft gave them as great a lift with a 135-horsepower engine as we obtained with the three-horsepower motor."

The three most important things developed at the Dayton school the last year have been the Moss supercharger, which supplies air in high altitudes, the invention of the adjustable propeller which enables flying at tremendous speed in high altitudes, and the metal plane.

The changes are said to have some fruit for appearing to exist on the side of the plane.

EVENTS AND GOSSIP FOR THE FANS

GEORGE SISLER BREAKS TIE IN BATTING STRIFE

Passes Tris Speaker, Who Is But Seven Points Behind Joe Jackson, of White Sox

Chicago, Sept. 18.—George Sisler, the St. Louis star, broke the tie which he shared last week with Tris Speaker, the Cleveland Indians manager, and is stopping the American League batting averages released today, which include games of Wednesday. Speaker is seven points behind with an average of .392, while Joe Jackson, the slugging outfielder of the Chicago White Sox, stands with a mark of .378.

"Babe" Ruth of the New York Yankees, the home run marvel who is hitting fourth place with an average of .372, cracked out three home runs since Wednesday, a week ago today, and is driving the circuit drives to 45, one less than the mark he set out to reach when the season started. He also carried his total base record to 347 and is far in front in the number of runs scored, having registered 147 times. Rice of Washington safely leads the base stealers with 51 thefts to his credit.

Other leading batters for 75 or more games:

E. Collins, Chicago, .365; Meusel, New York, .359; Judge, Washington, .358; Jacobson, St. Louis, .337; Rice, Washington, .333; Weaver, Chicago, .332; Felsch, Chicago, .331; Tobin, St. Louis, .331; Hendrix, Boston, .331.

Hornaby Hits Again

Nicholson of Pittsburgh struck a slight slump in his batting during the past week while Roger Hornaby of St. Louis got into a hitting stride. The former dropped a few points but continued to head the National league batters with an average of .371, while Hornaby by gaining a few points brought his average up to .360. The rest of the leaders remained practically unchanged. Hornaby boasted his total base record up to 277, while Bancroft, New York, increased his string of runs scored to 91. Williams of Philadelphia failed to add to his home run total of 14, and Carey of Pittsburgh failed to add to his stolen base record. He has stolen 45 bases.

Other leading batters: Young, New York, .343; Roush, Cincinnati, .342; J. Smith, St. Louis, .329; Z. Wheat, Brooklyn, .323; King, New York, .319; Hollander, Chicago, .318; Stock, St. Louis, .316; Williams, Philadelphia, .312; Konechky, Brooklyn, .312.

KIDS GET BATS OFF BIG FIGHT

Marshall, Mich., Sept. 18.—When Jack Dempsey and Billy Miske stepped into the ring for their heavyweight championship contest at Benton Harbor, Mich., Labor Day, it meant a baseball, a catcher's mitt and a football for every country school in Michigan.

Thomas W. Bigger, chairman of the state athletic board, announced he had received a check for $12,000, from Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter of the contest, as the states share of the receipts. The state, during the first year of legalized boxing and wrestling received $74,900. This amount will be devoted to fostering school boy athletics.

DUNN SURE HE'LL GET THE PENNANT

Cleveland, Sept. 18.—James C. Dunn, president of the Cleveland American League club, is just as confident as he was a month ago, when Cleveland was leading the league by 4 1/2 games, that the Indians will win the pennant.

"I am not worried about my boys. They have recovered from the disaster that hit them and I expect them to come through nicely," Mr. Dunn said. "I have the utmost confidence in Tris Speaker and the other members of the team. Give us the pitching we have had in the last few weeks and we are going to be a hard team to beat."

PUTS DOWN SCREENS WHEN BABE HITS 'EM

Cleveland, Sept. 18.—There is a little candy store on Lexington avenue, just opposite the League park, the proprietor of which believes in "safety first."

Every time the New York Americans come to town the proprietor of the store puts up heavy screens in front of his windows. "Babe" Ruth has broken three windows and one window frame. When the New York series ends down come the screens.

RATE INCREASE IS SUSPENDED BY HIGH COURT

order involved was obtained. I am of the opinion that such discussion is not concerned in the consideration of the questions presented to this court in this action."

The action was brought into the supreme court by William Lemke, a special assistant Attorney General. He obtained in the order today a writ of injunction. His contentions were set out in the conclusions of Justice Robinson, but were not upheld except on the one point by other members of the court.

Held Conference.

After the hearing August 12, only Acting Chairman C. F. Dupuis, of the commission, was present. Milhollan was absent, as was Sam Aandahl. A conference was held later, and the increase agreed to. The increase was granted in an order of August 26. The increase asked on milk and cream rates and on Pullman fares was denied.

The minutes of the meeting, however, did not include the action of the commission, and it is because the written record did not appear that the supreme court restrained the increase.

The question of sufficiency of the rates is not taken into consideration in the supreme court's action. One of the contentions of Lemke was that no notice of the hearing was given. This, apparently, is ignored.

At the hearing it was shown that W. A. Anderson, secretary of the mill and elevator commission, and J. M. McGovern, of the state mill and elevator association, were notified of the public hearing but failed to appear.

Maximum Rate Law.

One of the contentions of the employers' association, representatives at the hearing was that the increase, if ordered, should be made on the 1913 maximum freight law and not on the wartime rates. William Lemke told the supreme court he would not object to a 35 percent increase in freight rates for the railroads on the maximum freight law.

The opinion in the case, which was unanimous, was written by Judge Birdzell, with Robinson, Bronson and Grace concurring specially. Chief Justice Christmann issued the order of the court.

The syllabus said: "The board of railroad commissioners, pursuant to an application by the carriers, conducted a hearing attended throughout by one member of the board and a part of the time by two members. Several days thereafter a meeting of the board was held at which the subject matter of the application was discussed but concerning which there was no vote taken on any matter presented in the application although it is claimed an agreement as to disposition was reached. The minutes of the board do not show what action, if any, was taken. Subsequently, an order was issued under the seal of the board and signed by the secretary, imposing of the application, the secretary stating that such order was released pursuant to an understanding with one member of the board. It is held:

"The purported order is void for lack of proper action by the board of railroad commissioners, and the carriers are restrained from putting into effect rate increases based upon the purported order and are required to refund increased charges which have been collected pursuant to such purported order."

Justice Robinson, in his special concurrence said:

"In the opinion as written by Judge Birdzell, I do concur. I do also concur with myself in commending railway managers to avoid the folly of the widow who killed the goose that laid for her the golden eggs. There must be some limit to the patience of the people who have no guarantee of six per cent, or even one per cent, and who do not clearly perceive the right or wisdom of robbing Peter to pay Paul.

"In this state the railway passenger rates and most of the freight rates are regulated and fixed by statute. Yet during the war when constitutions and statutes were practically suspended, and when railroads were taken over and operated by the government, special and excessive war rates were imposed and exacted by the government, and since the termination of the war and the restoration of the roads to their owners the railway carriers have by surffiance continued to exact the excessive war rates. In some way they have worked one or more of the railroad commissioners of the state and have obtained a pretended order permitting them to add to the war rates for passengers, twenty per cent and for freight thirty-five per cent.

"However, it is entirely clear that the railroad commissioners had no jurisdiction to make such an order, they cannot in any way amend the laws of the state. Further, it appears that the pretended order of the commissioners was not made at a legal session of the board; it was not made upon proper notice, or any notice served upon the Governor or the Attorney General, nor after a fair hearing or any hearing. It was merely an arbitrary order, made in an arbitrary manner and without any jurisdiction, and for that reason it is null and void. Hence the carriers must be enjoined from continuing to exact, demand or receive the excessive rates and charges in accordance with said void order, and all excess charges received must be refunded."

A close counterfeit of milk is being made from peanuts.

31 games in 1915, 1916 and 1917 for the Phillies. Philadelphia won its first National League pennant in 1915 and came in second the following two years.

Jack Coombs won 31 games for the pennant-winning Athletics in 1910. "Smoky" Joe Wood pitched 34 wins for the Red Sox in 1912 and gave Boston the muslin.

Bagby Is Ace

This year the theory that a club which has a pitcher who can cop 30 or more games generally takes the pennant may be tested by the Cleveland Indians. Jim Bagby had put 27 games in the ice-box for Tris Speaker up to Sept. 12. With two more weeks to go the Cleveland ace should reach the 30 mark. If he falls down the Indians' chances to land a pennant may go along with it.

Coveleskie and Caldwell have helped Bagby carry the Tribe's pitching burden.

Carl Mays is the Yankees' best winner, with Quinn, Shawkey and Collins trailing in the amount of good accomplished.

For the White Sox "Lefty" Kerr heads their pitching procession, although Williams, Faber and Cicotte have all won more games, but, also, they have lost more.

Brooklyn's bid for the pennant, which is becoming stronger every day now, is centered around a great pitching staff. Wilbert Robinson, once a great catcher, knows how to develop and keep his moundmen in top condition.

Burleigh Grimes is the Dodgers' main tower of pitching strength. Pfeffer, Marquard, Mitcher, Mamaux and Cadore are also all in great form to come down the stretch. If the Flatbush boys do win out they'll be a good betting proposition for the next world's champions with such an array of heavies.

Reds' Weakness

Poor pitching has made the Cincinnati Reds a questionable ball club all year. If their pitchers, who were such bright stars a year ago, had kept it up this year Pat Moran would already be distributing the fall series pasteboards. But his pitchers have fallen down miserably. At that they are giving Brooklyn a run for their money and might yet upset the Dodgers' dope.

Louise is leading hill-top performer for the Redlegs. Ellner, Reuther, Fisher and Ring have had a hard time to win more than half their games. A couple of youngsters, Napier and Bressler, have each won a pair of games for their first starts, which all helps.

Toney, Neff, Barnes and Douglas have done most to keep the Giants' stock booming. Benton has been a losing proposition. The team behind them is a young one, and, although very brilliant at times, is hardly of caliber to cop this year's title.

Such a case of this year's Johnnies Evers has played a part of his life in them, but they have only an outside chance to nose out the Dodgers unless Uncle Wilbert's pitchers should all break their legs or something else between now and October 3.

Peanut Pitcher

A club with good pitching always has a chance to progress.

The pennant turnpike. The club that has one or more pitchers who can win 30 games in a season is an odds on favorite.

But Bagby of the Indians is the only pitcher of both leagues who has a chance to feature with such a string this year. Alexander of the Cubs is Bagby's runner-up, but the Chicago club is already out of the flag fight.

With three clubs in both leagues staging blanket September finishes the mound work from now on will tell the story. The two clubs which get the best of it will do the big series advertising in October.

RECORD YIELD IS CLAIMED BY KIDDER COUNTY

Steele, N. D., Sept. 18.—Kidder county claims the record wheat yield in North Dakota reported from the H. Behrson farm six miles north of Steele, where Kubanka durum wheat averages 37 bushels to the acre on 14 acres of land.

The crop was sowed on alfalfa land, and only ten bushels of seed was used on the 13 acres. The wheat graded No. 1 amber durum and weighed 63 pounds to the bushel. Mr. Behrson was supplied with the seed which is supposed to be rust and drought resistant by County Agents E. C. Parizek, and planted it to test but its value in comparison with marquis wheat. The 80 acres of marquis wheat which he grew, on similar land, gave an average yield of ten bushels to the acre.

"I don't want to knock marquis wheat," said Mr. Behrson, regarding his experiences, "but after my experience this year, I am planning to grow Kubanka wheat altogether next year. I cleared just 27 bushels to the acre from my Kubanka than I did from the marquis, and I figure that, I am at least $50 to the acre to the good as a result of following the advice of the county agent."

GIRL OF SIXTEEN HELD FOR FORGERY

Minot, Sept. 18.—An unusual case of a girl of 16 whose loneliness and homesickness drove her into what the law says is forgery has been recorded near Rydner. The girl came from her old Vermont home about a year ago and has been residing with her mother and stepfather on a farm south of Rydner. However, the loneliness of the new surroundings are said to have overcome her. It is said she forged her stepfather's name to a check for $75 and started back to Vermont. She was apprehended, however, and taken from the train at Hankinson. Sheriff Scott brought the girl to Minot last night and has placed her in the county jail. The girl's mother was here to receive her on her arrival.

The case is in the hands of Mark Chaffield, juvenile officer. It is stated that there is a misunderstanding in the whole matter, the girl believing that she had a right to sign her stepfather's name. The family is also reported anxious to stop any proceedings in the case which may be dropped.

HAND IT TO LADIES, THEY MAKE "LINGER LONGER, LETTY" A SCREAM

Anna Nichols Wrote the Comedy and Charlotte Greenwood Puts It over

Suffs or no Suffis, you have to hand it to the ladies and credit them with doing something worth while in giving us "Linger Longer Letty," which comes to the auditorium for one performance, Sept. 22, for Anna Nichols wrote the comedy and Charlotte Greenwood puts it over. Miss Greenwood as Letty makes "Linger Longer Letty," which is a comedy with music all that a comedy is said to be.

The story is a modern version of Cinderella, in a way. Letty is one of a bunch of sisters and is the only one that can sew and bake and do some of the things that are considered to be the duties of a woman in these modern times, she just naturally finds herself in the kitchen most of the time while her sisters amuse themselves with dances and festivals.

Incited by her father to rebel, she starts a strike, comes out of the kitchen, engages a male dressmaker to attire her and makes an immediate hit with the young man who formerly were altogether too attentive to her sisters.

Her co-conspirators in the plot to become beautiful is Jimmie, one of the brothers who have been paying court to her sister, Nancy. Jimmie is also angular and needs making over; so successfully are Letty and Jimmie in their process of recrudescence that they fall in love with each other.

Those who saw Miss Greenwood in "So Long Letty" will appreciate her in her present role, which offers more opportunity for her own particular style of comedy. She is screamingly funny, the looseness of her limbs and the way she dances, invariably convulses the audience.

A big cast and beauty chorus supports Miss Greenwood, including Valeria True, Olga Rolier, Curlyene Englar, Muriel Cole, Chona Paula, Robert Higgins, George Sweet, Frances Bendson and Chas. P. Morrison.

FINISH UP TO THE PITCHERS

Jim Bagby of the Indians is Only Hurler of Both Leagues Who Has Chance to turn In Thirty Victories Th's Season

BAGBY

BY DEAN SNYDER

A mediocre ball club can swing through the schedule for a pennant if its gets good pitching.

Another thing—as a rule a team that can boast of a pitcher who wins 30 more games in a season can count its chickens in.

There are a few exceptions, however. The case of Cy Young, the Ohio agriculturist, is one of them.

Cy pulled this feature pitching stunt five different seasons, three times for the Cleveland club and twice for the Red Sox, but neither of these clubs came home in front during his triumphs.

Matty's Record

Christy Mathewson turned the trick of hitting up 30 or more victories for the Giants four times. New York won in accumulating strings of 30 or more victories in a season. Alex won
